

U. S. Air Transport Crashes in Saudi Arabia; 11 Killed, 26 Injured

Disaster Occurs
Near American Air
Base at Dhahran

McGUIRE AIR BASE, N. J. P.—The Air Force said today 11 persons were killed and 26 injured when a C121 military air transport crashed and burned while attempting to land at Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, Sunday.

An Air Force announcement said the 26 injured were in "good condition" at a Saudi Arabia hospital.

There were 37 persons aboard the $1,900,000 Super-Constellation when it crashed at 3 p. m. one mile east of the U. S. air base in Dhahran.

An Air Force team was to fly from the United States this afternoon to investigate the crash.

The four-motored plane carried about 54 persons when it left McGuire AFB at 4:10 p. m. CST Dec. 28 for the journey to the Azores, Tripoli in Libya and Dhahran. The flight originated from Charleston, S. C., Air Force Base with a crew of 11.

The craft discharged a number of passengers at the Azores before taking off again for Tripoli.

Earlier, a Military Air Transport

Service (MATS) spokesman said the plane carried "military personnel and dependents—but more military than dependents."

The plane originally was believed to have carried 41 crewmen and passengers when it crashed a mile from its destination. The plane burned on impact. Air Force officials said it was "badly damaged."

The names of the dead and injured were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

It was not immediately determined how many crewmen were among the dead.

The plane is believed to have started its landing approach when it crashed one mile east of the Dhahran runway.

Harry Meacham, 49, Former Resident, Dies in Tennessee

Harry Meacham, 49, native of Harrisburg, died at noon Sunday at his home near Friendship, Tenn.

The body was returned to Harrisburg and was received by the Harrisburg funeral service. The funeral will be held at the funeral home Tuesday at 1 p. m. and burial will be in Sunset Hill cemetery.

Mr. Meacham was the son of the late Arthur and Mable Glass Meacham. His mother died Oct. 6 of this year.

He leaves his wife, one brother, Raymond Robert Meacham of Drayton Plains, Mich., and the following sisters: Mrs. Syble B. Randolph of Pope county, Mrs. Kitty Furlong of Elgin, Mrs. Margaret L. Joiner, Harrisburg, and Mrs. Bessie Hathaway, Eldorado.

Announce Civil Service Exam For Postmaster At Shawneetown

The U. S. Civil Service Commission in Washington, D. C., announces it will receive applications for the position of postmaster at Shawneetown until Jan. 22, 1957. The position pays $4,530 per year.

Competitors for the postmaster vacancy must have at least one year of experience showing they have the ability to conduct and manage the town's postal business efficiently and to supervise employees to the satisfaction of the customers of the post office.

Complete information may be obtained at the post office for which the examination is being announced. Application forms must be filed with the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C., and must be received or postmarked not later than the closing date.

Valuable Gifts from Local Merchants For Winner of Annual Baby Derby

The annual Harrisburg Township 1957 Baby Derby gets off to a start one second past midnight tonight and there's no telling how long it will run.

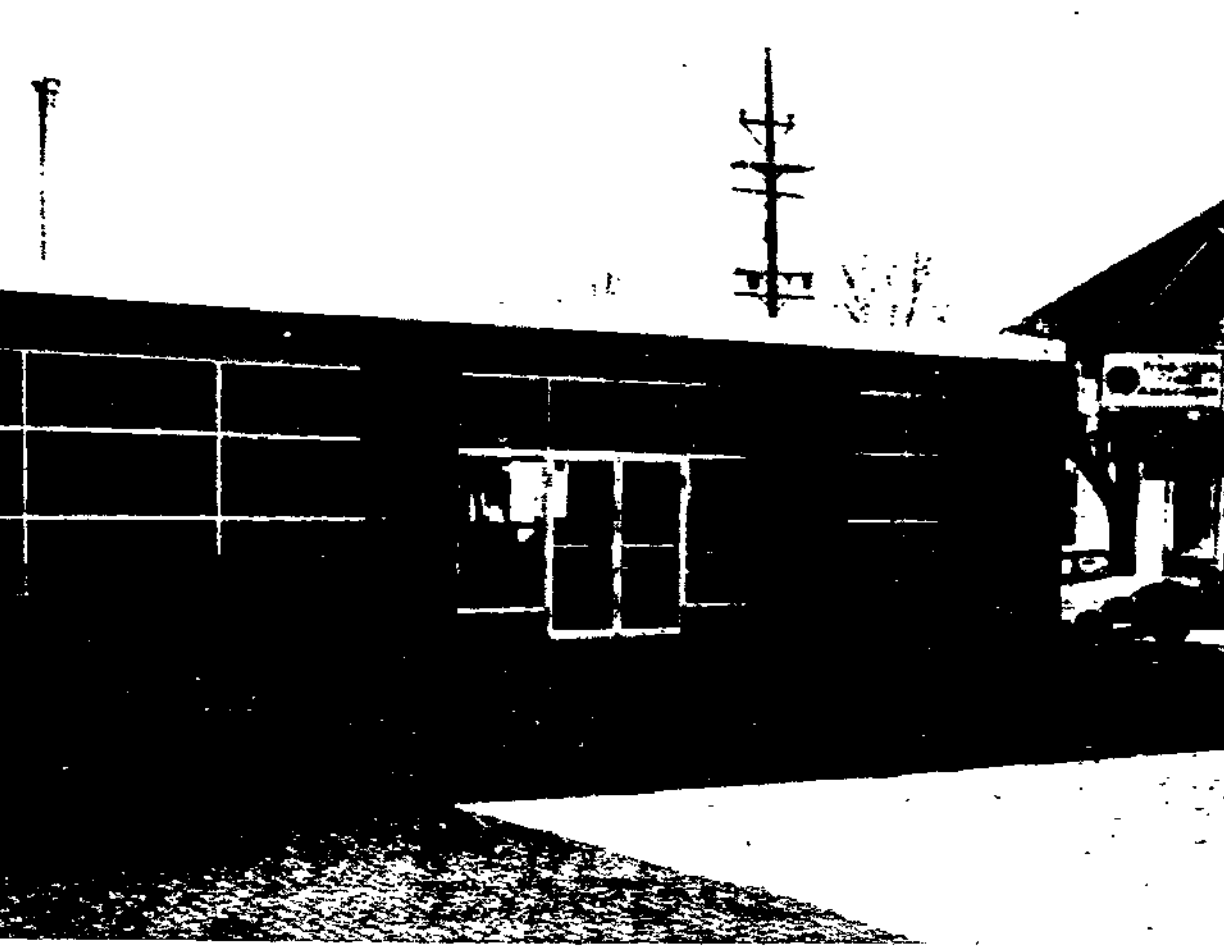

It might last only a few seconds—may last several days as has been the case in some past years.

Anyhow, the first baby born after the stroke of twelve to parents who are residents of Harrisburg township will be the Derby winner and the baby and parents will be the recipients of valuable gifts from Harrisburg merchants.

These are the contest rules: Just have your doctor state the exact time of the baby's birth; give the place of birth; sex; weight and name of the baby; give the name and address of the parents; and send this information to The Daily Register immediately.

Here are the gifts in store for the winner:

Six barbecues for the parents at Buck's Bar-B-Q; two Glamour Foam Rubber throw pillows for the home from Crags-DeVilz furniture; complete deluxe baby's lavette, $22 value, from Kresges; lunch for the parents at Nick's 45 restaurant; puppy bottle holder for the baby from Barter's Rexall drug store; jar of cotton applicators

Mrs. Art Maloney Of Ridgway Dies; Funeral Wednesday

Mrs. Lisa Maloney, 81, widow of Art Maloney of Ridgway, died Saturday evening at Ferrell hospital in Eldorado.

She leaves the following children: One son, Dan Maloney, and five daughters: Mrs. Ellen Valtier, Mrs. Leo Herrmann, both of Ridgway; Mrs. Charles Young, Mrs. Robert Logsdon, and Mrs. Tom Logsdon, all of Shawneetown.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 9 a. m. at St. Joseph's church in Ridgway. Rev. John Vencenogonia will officiate and burial will be in St. Patrick's cemetery. The body lies in state at the Cox funeral home.

Automobile Hits Filling Station In Gallatin County

An automobile driven by William Joyner, 22, of Shawneetown, crashed into the Freeman Morse filling station on State Route 13 at Junction Sunday at 2:30 a. m. causing damages in excess of $1,000. It was estimated today.

Two station gasoline pumps were knocked off their bases and demolished and the auto rammed into a corner of the filling station building.

Damages were jointly estimated by Gallatin County Sheriff Millard Holloway and by Morse.

Arraigned in county court today Joyner pleaded innocent to charges of reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident and was freed on $1,000 bond.

Rock is Hurlled At Mona Lisa; Slight Damage

PARIS (AP)—The Mona Lisa smiled her enigmatic smile today in a workshop at the Louvre while experts touched up the minor damage inflicted by a bearded Bolivian who flung a rock at the painting on a "whim."

Damage to Leonardo Da Vinci's great 16th Century masterpiece was reported "slight" by museum art experts, but they said it might have been "irreparable" if it had not been guarded by a protective plate of glass—the only painting in the museum so protected.

The stone shattered the glass in the lower left hand corner of the painting, far below the famous smile, and flaked a chip of paint the size of a fingernail off the left elbow.

A small hole was made in the Mona Lisa's dark brown robe but not enough to hurt the value of the picture the Louvre says is "priceless" and which art experts say is worth more than one million dollars.

The Bolivian, Hugo Uniga Villegas, 42, a native of La Paz, was charged with defacing a public monument and violation of an expulsion order.

Villegas told police at first the act was the result of a sudden whim. Later he admitted he picked up the stone in an alleyway outside the museum with the intent of throwing it at the painting.

Social Security Taxes Higher Tuesday for Workers, Employees

Servicemen Under Program For First Time

WASHINGTON (AP)—Social security taxes are going up Tuesday for more than 55 million jobholders and about 5 million employees.

At the same time, the armed forces will begin deducting social security taxes for the first time from the pay of 2,800,000 servicemen.

Congress earlier this year in separate actions:

—Raised payroll taxes, effective Jan. 1, to finance the new disability insurance benefit which it added to the social security program. About 9 out of 10 of the country's 65,300,000 jobs are covered by social security and will be hit by the tax boost.

—Brought servicemen permanently into the social security program as part of a program of providing broader military survival and retirement benefits.

Starting Tuesday, the government will begin collecting from workers 2 1/2 per cent of the first $4,200 of annual earnings, or a maximum of $84. Employers, who must match contributions of their employees, will also have to pay the higher rate. So will military personnel.

An estimated 7 million self-employed persons covered by the program will pay 3 1/2 per cent, or a maximum of $157.50 annually. They now pay 3 per cent, or a maximum of $126.

The higher tax will cause a reduction in take-home pay for almost 30 million employees as soon as they receive their first paycheck for January work. Military personnel will be hit at the same time.

Creek New Store Manager at Kroger

Ed M. Creek is the new manager of the Harrisburg Kroger supermarket on North Main street, succeeding Vola L. Sittig.

Mr. Creek, a former district manager, reported that Mr. Sittig, who is pastor of the Union Chapel church, resigned from the Kroger Co. and will devote full time to ministerial work.

Mr. Creek had served as a Kroger district manager for 13 years, and was a store manager in Harrisburg from 1928 to 1942.

Elderly Woman is Found After Walking Away from Her Home

An elderly woman who walked away from her home on East Gaskins street about 3 p. m. Sunday was found around 7:15 p. m. near Liberty.

She was Mrs. Ida Wilson, 80, of 107 East Gaskins street. Officers joined in a search for her when she was discovered missing and a report was sent out over WEBQ. She had been seen by several persons and someone who heard the report called Sheriff William T. Barrett, who picked her up.

A stick of dynamite with a timing device was found today by an attendant in a men's room of Kansas City's Union Station and one entrance to the huge building was blocked off in the event the bomb exploded. In the same city Sun-

Brush Fires End; California Faces Threat of Flood

MALIBU, Calif. (AP)—A serious flood threat from mountains denuded of brush faced southern California today in the wake of a scourge of 10 devastating fires that swept over 45,000 acres since Christmas.

Firefighters Sunday brought under control the last four fires in the unusual series of outbreaks, which claimed one life, destroyed 67 homes and inflicted more than 60 million dollars in property and watershed damage. But the fires posed another threat.

Authorities feared serious floods would result from approaching winter rains which could send torrents of runoff water cascading down denuded mountain slopes into inhabited areas. Such floods could prove as destructive or worse than the fire plague itself. In the past, floodwaters in fire-ravaged areas have caused severe damage.

President Eisenhower declared the fire areas a "disaster area" Saturday.

The weather helped firefighters beat down the last flames of the fires that were among the worst in southern California history. The fire rash itself was probably the most devastating mountain fire series on record in southern California.

Air moisture put a damper on the last stubborn flames Sunday and winds which had whipped the flames with gusts up to 70 miles an hour last week had died down.

"It looks like the threat of any more fires is over for the present, at least," a Weather Bureau spokesman said.

Louis Conover Opens Tax-Bookkeeping Office; Quits Revenue Service

Louis Conover, who has been connected with the Internal Revenue Service for the past 17 years, is severing his connection with the bureau today to open his own tax and bookkeeping service.

His new office will be located at the corner of South Main and Homer streets, the former location of the Triple Dip, and will be open for business Wednesday.

Mr. Conover was attached to the Granite City Internal Revenue office and was working in East St. Louis at the time he quit the government service. During his 17 years with the Revenue Service he has worked at the Fairfield, Mt. Carmel, McLeansboro, Eldorado, Harrisburg, East St. Louis and Granite City tax offices.

Bomb Scare Spreads as Hoax Forces Landings of 3 Airliners in Kansas day night a bomb warning telephone call to Continental Airlines forced the emergency landings of three flights at Garden City, Topeka and Hutchinson, Kan. No suspicious material was found after a search of those planes and others still on the ground at Kansas City.

There was no rest for harried police and bomb squad detectives in the nation's largest city. Last one pinpointing for the second time in four days the huge Paramount Theater in Times Square as a bomb target.

New 'Eisenhower Doctrine' for Mid-East Certain to Be Discussed

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower called Republican congressional leaders to the White House today to give them a preview of the legislative program he will submit to the 85th Congress.

For eight hours, Mr. Eisenhower, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, various members of the cabinet and Budget Director Percival Brundage will outline the administration program for the eight GOP House and Senate leaders and discuss strategy for its enactment.

The new Congress convenes on Thursday—with the Democrats again in command as they were during the past two years.

Domestic Program Emphasized

The emphasis at the White House meeting was on the administration's domestic program. But there was almost certain to be discussion, too, of foreign policy, particularly the new "Eisenhower Doctrine" for protection of the Middle East against Communism.

There will be more detailed consideration of that Tuesday, however, when the President meets again with congressional leaders—this time Democratic as well as Republican. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who was in New York today conferring with United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld, will be on hand for Tuesday's session.

Indications were that the President will have to do a major selling job to win support of the Democratic leaders for his plan to throw a protective shield of American military and economic might around the oil-rich Middle East.

Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey (Minn.), Mike Mansfield (Mont.) and J. William Fulbright (Ark.) all Democratic members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, complained that the administration "leaked" the new Middle East policy to the press before briefing Democratic leaders.

Mrs. Ben Davis of Near Eldorado Dies

Mrs. Dena Davis, 71, wife of Ben H. Davis who resided six miles northwest of Eldorado, died at the Pearce hospital at midnight last night.

Besides her husband she leaves two daughters and one son: Mrs. Lonnie Roberts, Mrs. Kenneth Coffee and Virgil Davis, all of Eldorado; also two brothers, Jerry Rohlf and Herman Rohlf, both of Lincoln; and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Church of God in Eldorado Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. Rev. V. B. Raines will officiate and burial will be in the Masonic cemetery at Raleigh.

The body will be taken from the Eldorado funeral home to the residence to lie in state today at 5 p. m.

Fires Damage Chase Hotel, St. Louis Wax Firm

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Two spectacular fires have resulted in total damage to the Chase Hotel and the St. Louis Candle and Wax Co. of $78,000, seven injuries and a fireman's death—the latter attributed to a heart attack.

The dead fireman was Capt. James Joseph Flanagan, who was helping battle the $70,000 blaze at the wax factory Sunday when he collapsed.

Four persons suffered injuries, two were overcome by smoke and another man, William Bohart, 60, broke both ankles as a result of the smaller fire in the Hunt Room of the fashionable hotel.

The wax company specialized in making church candles.

Many guests at the Chase Hotel left their rooms, although the fire was confined to the second-floor dining room and was quickly brought under control by firemen.

A 21-year-old airlines hostess, Miss Delores Mazzei, Miami Springs, Fla., and Arthur Walker, 36, a hotel employee, both suffered cuts in breaking windows. Two firemen, Capt. Allan Brandmeyer, 41, and Harry Hausmann, 30, were injured while fighting the fire. Mrs. Ann Burstein, 49, Marion, Ill., and her 18-year-old son, Stuart, were treated for smoke inhalation.

Fire Destroys Elgin Theatre

ELGIN, Ill. (AP)—A spectacular fire raced through the Rialto Theater Building in downtown Elgin Sunday just before the theater was scheduled to open for the day's performance.

Fire Chief Charles Bickler estimated damages to the building, which was listed as a total loss, at more than $200,000 and said adjoining buildings probably were damaged to the extent of $50,000.

Two firemen, Captain Clifford Voigts, 37, and Donald Henesie, 23, suffered leg injuries when they leaped to the roof of an adjoining building just as the theater roof gave way.

The New Year is Time For Squaring Shoulders

Editorial By James Crossley
New Year's Day comes at a time of the year when humanity, once before calendars, has taken heart.
The sun isn't being swallowed by the black dragon nor is its golden chariot rolling on the highway to oblivion, as our ancient ancestors feared each year when the days shrank in length. We know that spring will come again, then the planting and later, the harvest.
When the sun turns the corner and the days begin to lengthen again, it is the most fitting time of the year for a day of festivity and for the year to begin.

It is an end, too, but a joyous one since the year doesn't dwindle and die, thanks to the climax which is Christmas.

Truly, it is the beginning.

People, with their fresh calendars before them, take a new hold on their burdens. Last year's frustrations and disappointments seem to have faded somewhat and it is time to look forward.

Just as the sun touches lowest ebb, then begins to climb again, so can our lives be headed toward new heights.

And as the sun said "take courage" to those countless millions of humans down through the ages who lived, hoped and feared as we do, so can the sun say "take courage"
to us.

We need courage, as individuals.
Pressed in by our modern desperations, shapeless threats, the strange, frightening frailties of the human mind, each individual must warm himself with inner fires of determination and valor.

May the New Year, this time of beginning, bring you its measure of renewed fortitude to tread the path set before you.

We need courage, as a nation—perhaps more than ever before in our short history. The past year vividly demonstrated that we must face up to our responsibilities as the one great influence for good in the world. It is a burden thrust upon us and we must rise to our destiny.

We need the wisdom to recognize our strengths. We need determination to cease dwelling on

Over the Top

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Nehru Was Impressed With Ike's Goals For Peace; Eisenhower Decided Nehru Is No
Mystic; Chiang Kai-Shek Could Be Vice President Of China.

WASHINGTON.—Details of the tremendously important Eisenhower-Nehru conversations are now beginning to leak.

State Department officials have been a bit worried over the possibility that conflicting versions of the talks will plague them in the future. For no third party was present, no stenographer took notes. The two men were alone for large parts of about 18 hours.

However, the President called in a stenographer after the talks and dictated at length his recollection of the conference.

It can be stated from those who talked to both men that the following general impressions were scored:

1. Nehru became convinced our weaknesses. We need a cohesive spirit—to cease thinking of ourselves as parts of groups and to realize we are Americans.

Never has a civilization been raised by man which rivals our delicate balance between selfishness and sharing. We need the courage to walk erect as individuals and a nation, proud of our achievement.

We don't offer sacrifices in thanks to the gods who sent our sun back, as did our ancestors.
Instead, let New Year's Day be the moment when each squares his shoulders and says, "I'll do my best."

that Eisenhower was not merely a military man interested in polishing his medals. He found the President sincerely devoted to peace, a man not likely to be pushed by trigger-happy generals into atomic war.

2. Eisenhower in turn was impressed with Nehru's realism.
Contrary to reports that Nehru was an impractical mystic, he found him a practical, realistic leader.

Unlike many other foreign visitors, Nehru did not ask for American aid. The President gave him several opportunities.
He knew India desperately needs funds for its new five-year plan.
But Nehru preferred to talk about what the United States and India can do to promote peace with Russia and Red China.

VICE PRESIDENT CHIANG??

There was no agreement about China. But Nehru revealed that Premier Chou En-Lai had informed him just before leaving for Washington that Chiang Kai-Shek could be made vice president in the Red Chinese government if he would make peace with the Red regime. (Chiang was the first Chinese leader to warm up to Russia back in 1925 and once used the famed Communist Borodin to train Chiang's Whampto cadets. So it's been inferred he could now switch back to his old friends.)

Nehru said he was convinced Red China wanted to negotiate a firm peace that would enable all the Chinese to work together.
Nehru also emphasized in eloquent language his conviction that the problem of China must be solved.

The President was sympathetic but made no commitments. He indicated that Chiang Kai-Shek would have to decide his own future. The position of the United States has been that China would have to liberate all American prisoners and give a pledge not to use force against Formosa. Eisenhower did not deviate from this position.

In diplomatic language Eisenhower complained about the strandings of Indian diplomat Krishna Menon. Ike indicated that Menon seemed to be more a spokesman for Moscow at the United Nations than for India.
Nehru did not reply directly. He did remark rather pointedly that part of the difficulty in Indian-American relations had been that spokesmen for each country failed to explain policies properly.

IKE WOULD BAN M-BOMB

One part of the conversation which especially pleased Nehru pertained to disarmament. Eisenhower promised that during his second term in the White House his greatest goal would be a disarmament agreement with Russia to end the terrible threat of atomic-hydrogen warfare. He gave the Indian prime minister a preview of the proposals he planned to make to Premier Bulganin to ban guided missiles as well as atomic bombs.

Nehru seemed greatly impressed. He told Eisenhower that the new rulers of the Kremlin are deeply afraid of a new war and genuinely want disarmament.

One point which Nehru emphasized was that the United States must not get discouraged in its negotiations with Russia. He kept coming back to this over and over again. Stalinism, he said, is now dead in the Soviet Union. Each day that passes will make the new Kremlin leaders more reasonable because of the very important fact that the people of Russia are demanding a better life.

FRUITFUL TALKS

In the opinion of this observer, the Nehru-Eisenhower conversations of approximately 18 hours accomplished far more than the thirty-day tour of the U. S. A. on which Nehru was conducted by ex-Secretary of Defense Loney Johnson during the Truman administration. Johnson, who worked hard and sincerely to sell Nehru on the U. S., did not realize that the Indian leader wasn't particularly interested in meeting railroad tycoons and big business executives or in seeing the tall buildings and natural wonders of the United States.

He was interested in getting to know the man at the helm of the United States.

Eisenhower understood this. He also was shrewd enough to keep John Foster Dulles and Vice President Nixon, whom Nehru does not like, out of the picture. Dulles called on Nehru after he first arrived and Nehru returned the call just before he left. Nixon gave a luncheon for Nehru, but at the luncheon Nehru hardly opened his mouth on anything important.

Dulles had once aroused Indian wrath with his statement championing Portugal's right to the colony Goa on the Indian coast, also by a statement appearing to side with Pakistan in the dispute with India over Kashmir.

Nixon got in wrong with Nehru when Nehru, accepting aid from Moscow for a steel mill remarked,
"Of course there are no strings attached."

Nixon promptly fired back:
"Russia doesn't offer aid with a string, but with a rope."

IS IKE A NEUTRALIST?

One factor which helped the Nehru-Eisenhower conversations was the statement the President made one day before his ill-fated attack last June expressing sympathy with the neutrality of India and other Asian neutralists. His statement caused a furore in Pakistan, the Philippines, Germany, and other non-neutral nations which have signed definite pacts to fight alongside the United States. The Philippine government asked for a formal explanation and the German ambassador expressed the concern of his government.

As a result, the State Department issued a "clarifying" statement next day, in effect correcting the President of the United States.

However, as Eisenhower remarked publicly last June, the United States itself was once neutral. And in his talks with Nehru, he seemed to reflect a strong,
personal sympathy with neutrality.

Woman's Club Tea New Year's Day At Eldorado

Harrisburg Woman's club members have had a special invitation to the New Year's tea to be held by the Eldorado Woman's club at the home of its president, Mrs. Athel Mathias, Tuesday from 2 to 5 p. m.

The club here will open the new year on Jan. 14 with a music program, of which Mrs. D. H. Hiller is president. On Jan. 28 Mrs. Mathias will be the main speaker at public health and welfare meeting here.

One of the club's Christmas benevolence was a party at Logan school for the children in the orthopedic, the sight saving and the mentally retarded rooms. The president of the club, Mrs. E. B. Hill, Mrs. Stanley Wilson, Mrs. J. Klein, Mrs. L. B. Kimmel, Mrs. J. A. Bottomley, Mrs. J. B. Blackman, and Miss Cuba Turner were in charge of the plans for the party, with Miss Turner as chairman.

She invited Bill Plater to come and do chalk drawings for the children and they were delighted with his performance. Earmuffs and felt collars were presented to the boys and girls, and they received Christmas bags of candy and fruit. Mrs. Bottomley told them the Christmas story.

Club Women Asked To Monitor Forum

The first television open forum for club women will be on the NBC network Wednesday morning, Jan. 2, at 9 o'clock CST, on the Home Program, starring Arlene Frances.

Mrs. E. B. Hill president of the Harrisburg Woman's club, has been requested to advise by telegram Mrs. R. I. C. Prout, president of the General Federation, the reaction of members who heard the program, and how they stand on the issue presented. She asks cooperation of watching members.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Leavell, East Alton, formerly of Gallatin county visited relatives in Gallatin county today. They were called to Carbondale by the premature birth of a girl to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steele, their son-in-law and daughter. The baby weighed only 3 1/4 pounds and was taken in an incubator to a baby clinic in East St. Louis. The paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Steele, reside at Hartford.

Mary Ann Flanders Done Becomes Bride of Lt. James Arthur Read

Lt. and Mrs. James Arthur Read

In a lovely wedding ceremony Thursday evening, Dec. 27 Mrs. Mary Ann Flanders Done, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Harry J. Flanders, 1124 Benton street, Eldorado, became the bride of First Lt. James Arthur Read. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Read of near Raleigh.

The double ring ceremony was performed at the First Presbyterian church in Eldorado by the church pastor, Rev. Austin Heuser at 8:00 o'clock. The church was beautifully decorated to carry out the holiday theme.

Mrs. Lou Beck served as organist, playing before the ceremony and also the traditional wedding marches. She accompanied Bill Williams of Harrisburg who sang "Because," "Every Day of My Life," and the "Wedding Benediction."

The new Mrs. Read has resigned her position as city clerk. She attended Northwestern University at Evanston for one year after graduation from the Eldorado Township high school.

The bridegroom attended Southern Illinois University at Carbondale for three years and is now stationed with the United States Marine Air Corps at Cherry Point, N. C.

After a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination they will be at home January 7 at 225 Kenneth Blvd., Havelock, N. C.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a ballroom length Italian silk gown, designed princess style with a scoop neckline and long sleeves that came to a point over her hands. She wore a shoulder length veil edged in lace and carried a white orchid and stephanotis, outlined in holly leaves and holiday glitter.

Miss Mary Ann Read, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and to carry out the holiday theme, wore a red lace dress over taffeta and net and her head piece was red felt covered in holly and red roses.

Barry E. Melton of Eldorado was best man and ushers were Robert Read, brother of the bridegroom, and Jay Flanders, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Flanders chose for her daughter's wedding a brown taffeta dress with beige accessories and a shoulder corsage of bronze mums.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Read, wore a navy crepe dress with navy and white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was given in honor of the newlyweds in the church basement. Hostesses for the reception were Miss Marilyn Towle, Mrs. Jack Baldwin, Mrs. Sue Davenport, Mrs. Louis Murphy and Miss Virginia Murphy.

Mrs. Callie Reynolds of Joliet, the former Callie Hull of this city, entered St. Joseph hospital in Joliet Dec. 30 where she underwent surgery Monday, Dec. 31. She would enjoy hearing from her friends. Her address is Callie Reynolds, St. Joseph hospital, Joliet.

Mr. and Mrs. Wylie Burnam had as guests over the holidays their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Miller, of Pontiac, Mich. and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hilgert of Chebanse, Ill.

Christmas Eve Party At Ed Wallace Home

On Christmas Eve a party and family gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wallace.

The exchanging of gifts, playing of games, songs and decorative refreshments all helped in making the evening a merry one.

Those attending were Mrs. Addie Priest, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tanner, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Parks and Beverly and Noel, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Priest of Pittsburg, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Priest of New Castle, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jarvis of Evansville, Ind., and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wallace and Butch.

Present for Christmas dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hutchinson were their children and families, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hutchinson and boys, Billy and Bobby, Harrisburg, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hutchinson and boys, Phil and Eddy, of Harrisburg, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Crawford and children, Larry and Philis, Cincinnati, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Loral E. Hutchinson of Winchester, Ill.

Mrs. Louise LaBaw and Miss Mary Richardson have returned home after attending the wedding of Miss Jere Ann Gaskins in Oak Park, Ill., on Saturday, Dec. 22. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Gaskins and niece of Mrs. LaBaw and Miss Richardson. After the wedding Mrs. LaBaw and Miss Richardson flew from Chicago to Detroit to spend Christmas with Mrs. LaBaw's stepson, William D. LaBaw and family. Miss Richardson returned home Wednesday and Mrs. LaBaw arrived home Sunday morning.

Egyptian Health Dep't News

DENTAL SURVEY AT STONEFORT GRADE SCHOOL

Dr. Charles W. Elder, Public Health Dentist, will conduct a thorough dental survey in the Stonefort grade school beginning Jan. 2. This is the first in a series of dental surveys being conducted by the Egyptian Health Department as a part of the new dental health program. According to Dr. Elder, this survey will provide your children with an examination of their teeth and gums.

This survey will give the department an overall picture of your children's dental health, which will include the condition of the gums as well as the teeth. In the event that defective teeth or gums are found by this examination, a card will be given the child to take to his or her parents telling of these conditions.

The next survey will be held in the Carrier Mills grade school. At this time, Holmes and Lakeview schools will be invited to participate in this Carrier Mills survey. The dental survey will eventually cover all the schools in the three county area. Due to the lack of room in the small rural schools, these children will be invited to the larger schools for their dental examinations.

Announce Marriage of Miss Barbara Heron

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Harting

Miss Barbara Heron, daughter of Eugene Heron of Chicago, and Mrs. James Dowling of French Morocco, became the bride of William R. Harting of Jerseyville, Ill., in an impressive ceremony performed Dec. 1 at 9 a. m. at the Scott Air Force Base chapel. Father Hanman officiated at the ceremony.

Miss Aurelia Lauer of Albers, Ill., was maid of honor and Johnny Dugan of Fieldon served as best man.

The bride wore a ballerina length gown of white chantilly lace designed with a rounded neckline and long tapered sleeves. A short white nylon veil was secured to a crown of seed pearls.

The maid of honor chose an avocado green ballerina length gown with matching accessories.

The bride attended two years at the Equality high school and graduated from Waterloo, New York, high school with the class of 1955.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the Jerseyville high school with the class of 1953 and is stationed at Scott Air Force Base with the hospital unit.

Following the reception at the N.C.O. club from 1 to 3 p. m., attended by 150 guests, the couple left for a honeymoon trip to Oklahoma. They are now at home at 307 South Charles street in Belleville, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hetherington accompanied their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jay W. Gaskins, back to their new home in Tucson, Arizona, for an extended visit. They left Sunday morning by automobile, and will visit in Memphis, Tenn., while in route with another son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cornaglie and family.

A DOCTOR for BLUE JAY COVE

By ELIZABETH SEIFERT

THE STORY: Dr. Alex Ward and his bride have come to Blue Jay Cove, where he will be resident physician at a private hospital. The Wards will live with Alex's mother, who operates a boarding house for out-patients of the hospital.

It was a beautiful day. Involuntarily, Cass did the best possible thing. She laughed. "All right, then!" she went on briskly. "Maybe first you'd better explain a little more about the Knapps and their hospital. I know you're to do the surgery."

"Yes, that's what Francy specified," He sighed. "Francy is Mrs. Knapp, widow of the old doctor. His son, Matt, and I will be the medical staff at House Springs, and of course Sue—" He glanced at Cass. "Sue is Matt's wife, and she's a doctor, as well—"

"But I thought the hospital—" she began.

"You're right. It is for problem cases, chronics and rehabs. But we do medicine and surgery, too. Both for the patients, and on cases that develop in the town. I'm to be the surgeon."

"On haphazard cases?"

"I did haphazard surgery in the Navy," he reminded her.

He had written about his work in the Navy, the interest he'd developed in the psychosomatic side of surgical service, his enthusiasm for the results of plastic surgery, and prosthetics from the psychological angle.

And he could continue that sort of work if he'd take the Residency which had been offered him. But now—here. . . . She looked dubiously at his mother's boarding house. At Aunt Cordy's Haven!

By the time she recovered, he was at the trunk of the car, taking their bags out of it and stacking them on the narrow parking.

Cass felt like a human punching bag, and she put her fingers to her temples to get herself set firmly again upon her feet.

"I should have spent our honeymoon briefing you on things here at home," said Alex, vaguely understanding the girl's confusion.

"I'm glad you didn't. But—well—you could clear up this one point. I'd got the impression that your mother had rather opposed your going into medicine?"

"Nonsense! She's proud of her doctor-son."

It was not the same thing. Precisely.

He put his arm about her slender shoulders, and gave her a reassuring hug.

"I'm young, as doctors go, and any young doctor needs experience. I'll get that here. We'll make a good start in our personal affairs, and my medical ones. Then after a year or so, we'll be in a better position to decide what sort of future we want."

"But, Alex," she protested, "I believe that the future is today!" She had a desperate, and perhaps ridiculous, feeling of iron gates being closed upon her and locked.

"What we do now is our life; what we do now makes the difference."

He took her elbow into his warm hand. "Let's go in," he said gently. "I can buy your belief and still say that I think what we're doing now is all right. My future is in medicine, and in my relation to my family. I'm caring for both projects as of this minute. And I could hope—" he glanced down at her. "that those items would somewhat take care of your future, as well."

Coming in from the sunlight, at first she could see almost nothing. Her strongest senses were those of smell and feel and sound. Sight came last. But immediately she was aware of the perfume of the big house of an aroma which spoke pleasantly of age of currents long on the floors of flowers beginning to fade, and in contrast the heavy fragrance of fresh-baked cake. The air of the house was warm, with currents of a breeze coming from somewhere within the dark cavern.

Returning vision showed Cass a huge room to the left, and stairs to the right—amps upon ornate tables—pictures in deep frames—and Alex's mother hurrying to and her son.

Cass didn't know what she had expected, but this "Aunt Cordy" was not it. Perhaps the only picture she had let herself draw had been a negative one. Not Whistler's mother, not the smart, gray-haired executive she knew as the mother-in-law of a close friend—but, most certainly too not the big flushed bosomy woman who was alternately reminding Alex in her embrace and pushing him away so that she could look at him. Her hair was blond and newly curled. Her hair was as pink as a baby's, and as untried with fat. She must have weighed 150 pounds. She wore a blue and white striped cotton dress, rimless eyeglasses—she laughed all over when she laughed.

She beamed down at Cass. "Welcome home, at last!" she cried heartily. "You don't mind, I'm sure, if I blame you for delaying Alex's homecoming. For now that I've seen you, I can't blame him, can I?"

It took the girl by surprise. Cass had not expected that. She glanced at Alex. He was not charmed—and not surprised. He'd expected his mother to be charming.

Mrs. Ward was going on with her hospitable welcome. The whole house was theirs, she declared, and everything in it. But she had particularly set aside—and fixed up—rooms over the garage. If Cass was not pleased with them, she could have some of the rooms here in the big house; they'd decide all that after lunch.

Mrs. Ward laughed. "Take Cass into my room to freshen up," she told Alex. "And to get her out of the way of the descending hordes."

Conscious of a huge parlor as they crossed it, and of a stone fireplace. Cass went on into what had once been a sunroom, now opaquely curtained for use as a bedroom. Numb with surprise and with the weight of so many new pictures and impressions, she freshened her make-up, and rejoined Alex. Obviously luncheon was being served. Noontime dinner, Alex explained.

Mrs. Ward led the way into the dining room, doing a dozen things at once, apologizing for still having on her "morning dress," watching a crippled old man get safely into his chair at one of the small tables, critically inspecting the platters of chicken set out upon the serving buffet, along with bowls of hot vegetables, plates of salad, an urn of coffee, a pitcher of iced tea. . . .

Their destination was a table set into the bay window of the large dining room; its cloth was snowy, a small vase of zinnias brightened it.

Mrs. Ward carried on a running fire of information and commentary. Cass was a very pretty girl, she said, and hadn't Alex put on a little weight? Well, it probably was the gray suit, gray being that sort of color and she hoped that Cass, a city girl, didn't mind noontime dinner.

"I hope you'll like your little apartment," said Mrs. Ward. "I had to guess about colors and things—so I chose a soft green, and ivory."

"It should be perfect," Cass told her, genuinely pleased. "You say it's part of the garage?"

"Yes. In the old days when this was the fine home of a rich man—before us, naturally—" Mrs. Ward laughed, only "the coachman lived in these rooms."

They had only two rooms and a bath. The ceiling was a bit low for Alex; he joked about having to keep his hair cut short in order to stand erect. There was a long living room across the front of the building, a tiny entrance hall, a bedroom, the stairs, a good-sized bedroom with casement windows that looked down upon a neighbor's flower garden, a post-and-rail bath with a shower stall. The furniture was not new, but the mahogany bed had a good box spring and a foam rubber mattress. The spread was of corded, but plain and creamy white. The dresser had a can a loud mirror, and there were several comforters and quilts. The living room was carpeted in gray, the walls were papered cream. There was a good chair and a deep chair.

"Look at that Alex," who had been watching Cass.

"Yes. Expensive because we're off to ourselves."

They approached their bags, and Alex noticed a shortage of closet space. They discussed ways of supplementing it and decided to send for all their gifts, even the tea service. They could entertain in their living room—on a small scale, of course. Alex assured Cass that she would have friends.

"Divine Wind"
Kamikaze means "divine wind." The Japanese gave the name to a typhoon which saved Japan from invasion by the Mongols in the 1200s and they revived the name in World War II in the hope that the Kamikaze spirit would once more save Japan.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Fletcher and daughter, Helen, of Roswell, N. M., visited with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Riegel from Sunday to Tuesday, as they were en route home from Miami, Fla., where they had attended the American Farm Bureau Federation meeting.

Mrs. Dana Rapp of Galatia, Mrs. Fletcher's aunt, was also a house guest. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rapp and family joined the group for the Monday evening meal.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lockwood's Christmas guests were their twin sons and families, i.e., land and wife and son, Jimmy, Mr. Vernon, and Leibner and his wife and daughter, Sandra, of Pontiac, Mich. This is the first Christmas in 11 years that the family was together. Mrs. Grace Limerick was also present. A tray was sent to Mrs. Ann Quick, mother of Mrs. Lockwood and Mrs. Limerick.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Riegel's Christmas guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Reynolds, Charles Upchurch, Mr. and Mrs. George Bond and son, Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Henn entertained at Christmas dinner their daughter, Mrs. Arthur Hill, and family. Mrs. Henn has been ill with a back ailment for a few days.

The daughters of the late Joe and Catherine Riegel had their Christmas together at the John C. Small home this year. For the noon meal were Mrs. Bedie Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Patterson, Miss Opal Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Small, the host and family. Joining the group for the evening meal were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Harris and daughter, Carla. The guests departed at a late hour after an enjoyable day together.

Neighbors send condolences to A. J. Drott and family on the passing of his mother, Mrs. Emma Drott, of Thompsonville. Mr. Drott is ill at the Harrisburg hospital following surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Riegel spent Christmas day with their son, Grant, and family. Beginning with breakfast they enjoyed the grandsons' investigation of Santa's visit and further joys of the day.

The Brushy consolidated school program Friday night was well presented and well received by a large audience. The characters were the foods that are on the Christmas table, each in appropriate costume. The turkey was the star of the show. The teachers, Mrs. Marie Jones, Mrs. Mabel Pankey and Mrs. Wilma Gideumb, are to be congratulated on such a finished production. Santa came and distributed gifts from a beautiful Christmas tree.

The manger scene was presented at Mt. Moriah following the Bible school hour Sunday. Maxine Knight depicted Mary and Larry Dutton acted the part of Joseph. Mrs. Don Price was the reader. Joe Ella Knight played the carols as accompaniment to the narration. Mrs. Clifford Knight and daughter Joy sang.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Reynolds spent the week end in Peoria visiting their daughter Mrs. Ray Dahl and family.

ALLEY OOP

OH, THEN YOUR GIANTS NOT AS OLD AS I IMAGINED. WHEED HE SPEND HIS TIME?

CARBON TESTS INDICATE THIS COFFIN ABOUT FIFTY-SIX THOUSAND.

THAT'S RIGHT. WELL, THE MACHINES READY ANY TIME YOU ARE.

OKAY, OOP SHAKE A LEG! ME?

THAT'S RIGHT. AW, HECK! DON'T YOU GUYS THINK I EVER GET TIRED?

CAPTAIN EASY

What? No Ten Bucks!

BY LESLIE TURNER

IT WAS AROUND ABOUT THE SAME TIME I FIGURED OUT I WASN'T GOING TO GET HIM OUT OF JAIL!

NO GIRL GOT HIM OUT! WE SAID THAT BECAUSE YOU NEEDED A LESSON AFTER YOU TRUMPED UP THAT CHARGE AGAINST HIM!

YOU MEAN I HAD ALL THIS TROUBLE FOR NOTHING, WHILE CAPTAIN EASY WAS GOING AROUND THE MOUTH?

WELL, I'LL LET YOU OFF CHEAP. A KID FINE IF YOU AGREE TO LEAVE TOWN AT ONCE AND GIVE OUR POLICE FORCE A REST!

THIS IS AN OUTRAGE! I CAN'T BELIEVE I DON'T HAVE TEN DOLLARS!

Stay Here, Lady!

IF YOU HADN'T BEEN SO EASY TO SERVE, I'D HAVE HAD TO COME DOWN AND PAY IT MYSELF!

FINE FOR 25 CENTS. SHE WAS DISTURBING THE PEACE!

CAN'T SEE WHY SYBIL HADN'T RETURNED AFTER SHE LEARNED I'D BEEN RELEASED, EASY!

Leaflets Call for 'Black' New Year's Eve in Hungary

BUDAPEST (AP)—The Hungarian underground called today for a "black" New Year's Eve in defiance of the government and in memory of the Hungarian dead.

A nation famed for the abandon of its New Year's Eve celebrations planned to go to bed early in silence, the only form of protest open to the Hungarians.

Only a fragment of the nation's workers expect to have jobs and full wages after this New Year's Eve. The hundreds of thousands to be laid off at factories and in the ministries faced only the prospect of being ordered to work in the labor-short coal mines.

Unsanctioned leaflets scattered in the streets of Budapest called for a "black" New Year's Eve of mourning. Similar gestures of defiance in the past have been strictly followed.

Bus Hits Rear of Truck; Two Killed

ROCK SPRINGS, Wyo. (AP)—Investigators attempted to determine what caused a Greyhound bus to crash into the rear of a truck Sunday, killing 2 persons and injuring 28 others.

All but 11 of the injured had been released from Memorial Hospital by early today, but 4 of those still hospitalized were reported in critical condition.

The two killed in the accident were tentatively identified as Mrs. William T. Toner, about 40, of Denver, and Gail Demos, 9, of Cheyenne, Wyo.

John B. Collins, 42, of Columbus, Neb., driver of the truck which was loaded with soybeans, escaped injury, as did the bus driver, Burton F. Howard Jr., 31, of Cheyenne.

Special Signal For State Police 'Solo' Patrols

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—State police in Illinois who patrol alone in squad cars have been assigned a special radio signal for use when they stop any car on the highway.

The new signal is to be a check against the "solo" patrols so authorities will have a record of the wanted car and a description of its occupants in case anything happens.

State Police Chief William Morris, who announced the new signal system Sunday, said operators have been instructed to give an urgent priority to the new signal.

Once the "Signal 18," as the new call is known, has been received the make of the car, color, location, license number and number of occupants will be recorded by the radio room.

The new system was prompted by the shooting of a Fox Lake policeman in November when he stopped a Chicago youth in a stolen car for speeding.

Morris said about 30 per cent of the state's patrolmen ride alone. He said he hopes to eliminate the solo patrol as soon as more officers are available.

Bullet Hits Bus in Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A city bus was struck by gun fire early today. Police theorized the shot might have come from a passing car.

Police said the bullet, apparently from a .38 caliber pistol, entered the bus just below the driver's seat.

Apparently, no one was hurt.

Newspapers Meet Challenges with Record Circulation, More Color

NEW YORK (AP)—American daily newspapers had a prosperous 1956 and the outlook is good for 1957.

The past year in the newspaper field was notable particularly for a new total daily circulation record of more than 56 million copies and the use of multicolor advertising by more than 600 papers, according to a review of the newspaper year published in the current Editor & Publisher, a trade journal.

The magazine predicted continued plant expansion and the establishment of automatic branch plants. Newspaper building projects in the works or in the planning stage total at least 100 million dollars, not including a projected 40 million dollar publishing plant for the New York Times.

All this, the magazine says, indicates the press has met the challenge of television. There even was a net gain of six new dailies for the nation, and newspaper properties were reported in a "premium market" with 44 changes of ownership during the past year.

Ad Lineage Up

Media Records Inc. reported that national advertising lineage for newspapers set an all-time record for the first 11 months of 1956, 2.8 per cent higher than the previous year. Total advertising was up 2.6 per cent for the same period. Classified ads were up 3 per cent.

But to make a profit in the face of operating costs that have climbed 150 per cent in 11 years, newspapers continued to boost their prices. Most home delivered dailies were jacking the price per copy from 5 cents to 7 cents. The Phoenix, Ariz., papers raised their price from 7 cents to 10 cents last month.

One way of reducing publishing costs E & P said, was the increased use of photo-composition methods to produce advertising material and some editorial copy. At least a dozen papers reported limited use of these methods in 1956 and more papers can be expected to turn to photo-composition in 1957. The Middletown, N. Y., Daily Record, which uses offset methods exclusively was declared a "going success" by its owners.

ROP In Vogue

The ROP (run of papers) color process, using one or more colors and black, has gained acceptance by more than 400 newspapers. It was expected to come into even wider use next year. Color will become an increasingly important feature of newspaper advertising in the future, advertising sources predicted.

The newspaper supply situation, desperate at the beginning of 1956, had begun to ease toward the end of the year and probably will continue to improve. E & P said. Supplies from Japan, Austria and Scandinavia were in particularly heavy demand to supplement supplies from the United States and Canada.

The trade journal said that labor problems seemed brighter for 1957, mainly due to a large number of two-year contracts negotiated with many unions in the newspaper field during 1956.

Youth Admits Shooting Boy on Way to Church

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Police said today George Mann, 14, has admitted deliberately shooting a 9-year-old boy, Robert M. Carlton Jr., who was on his way to church.

Officers said the Mann boy first told them the fatal shooting of the younger boy was accidental but later said he pulled the trigger of the .22-caliber rifle when Robert laughed at his command to "throw up your hands."

Robert was walking from his home to attend 11 o'clock Mass at St. Peter's Cathedral here Sunday when he was stopped by the older boy on the Richmond Creek bridge. The Mann boy said he was about 30 feet away from the victim when he fired.

The bullet struck Robert in the heart.

Officers later arrested the Mann boy at his home. He was charged with manslaughter in a warrant and released on $10,000 bond pending a coroner's inquest.

Robert was a pupil at the cathedral grade school. The Mann boy is an eighth grade pupil at the Belleville Junior High School.

U. S. to Sell Surplus to Brazil

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States entered into a trade agreement with Brazil today to finance the sale to that country of $100,000,000 worth of surplus farm commodities.

The commodities will be paid for in Brazilian currency.

The agreement was signed in the office of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson by Brazilian Ambassador Amaral Peixoto and Deputy Assistant Secretary of State Thorsten V. Kalljarvi.

This is the second largest agreement ever signed under the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954. The largest agreement was for the sale of $200,000,000 worth of surplus commodities to India. This agreement was announced last Aug. 29.

The Brazilian agreement provides for the sale of $111,000,000 worth of wheat and/or wheat flour or about 68 million bushels; $50,000,000 worth of corn or about 11 million bushels; $15,000,000 worth of cottonseed or soybean oil; or about 11 million pounds; and $22,000,000 worth of various dairy products.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D.D. (Written for NEA Service)

A year ends tonight. Businesses are taking inventory of their stocks. Accountants are balancing their books. Individuals are totaling their incomes in preparation for paying their income taxes.

We ought to review also our spiritual gains and losses. We need to add up the gifts of God which we have accepted. Our sins and our waywardness would shock us. Our lethargy, our oversights and our slights of others do not look good.

There is a balance on the page in the form of repentance. God and our fellow man, too, minimize our debts when we humbly confess our sins and honestly do better. Our sins are atoned for by the Saviour whose birthday we celebrated a few days ago.

Repentance balances the spiritual books.

The chigger is a mite, not an insect.

Suez Salvage Work Hits Snag

LONDON (AP)—United Nations efforts to clear the wreck-filled Suez Canal came to an abrupt halt today, almost before they started.

The salvage operation which is expected to clear the canal for some shipping traffic by March ran into an unforeseen snag just a few hours after the all-out assault was ordered this morning.

It was found that there had been an incomplete survey made of obstructions in the stretch between El Cap and the Firdan bridge, just north of Ismailia.

Earlier, the Cairo newspaper Al Akhbar suggested that Egypt refuse to open the Suez Canal for navigation until all Israeli troops withdraw behind the 1949 demarcation lines.

Three Boys Found Asphyxiated in Car

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP)—The bodies of three asphyxiated 15-year-old boys were found Sunday night in a car parked in the garage at one of the boy's homes.

Dead were John E. Brown, Ypsilanti, and Donald Swarthout and Edward Bennett, both of Pickering.

State police said the boys were reported missing by their parents Friday night. Their bodies were discovered by John's father Sunday night when the father went to his garage to get his car.

Modoc Rock Excavations Highlighted Year's Activity by State Museum

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Excavations at Modoc Rock Shelter in southern Illinois highlighted State Museum achievements in 1956.

In a year-end report to Governor William G. Stratton concerning Museum activities, Director Vera M. Davis of the Department of Registration and Education said today that material taken from the excavation dates back to about 5,000 B.C.

Some of the artifacts and associated articles taken from the Shelter last August are now on display at the Museum.

Dr. Thorne Deuel, director of the Museum, said this archaeological find may result in new concepts on American anthropology.

The report said that more than 1,080,000 persons were served by the Museum during 1956, an increase of about 200,000 over the 1955 total. Attendance at the Museum this year will near the half-million mark.

The school loan service section which supplies free movies, film strips and slides to Illinois schools reached 310,000 school children in 1956.

Almost 800 groups of school children totaling 32,000 youngsters came to Springfield to tour the Museum during the year.

Other activities which showed increases during 1956 included Museum publications. Circulation of the monthly "Living Museum" climbed to 315,000 copies, including 535 in braille. Other publications totaled almost 5,000 copies.

The Herbarium, a collection of mounted and preserved plant specimens from Illinois, received 2,500 new items. The collection now contains more than 50,000 native plants.

Sarr Returns To W. Germany After Midnight

SAARBRUECKEN, Saar (AP)—Fugitive Saarlanders staged village parades today to celebrate their return to the West German republic after 11 1/2 years of French control.

The tiny territory, caught for 40 years in a tug-of-war between Germany and France, becomes a political part of Germany at one minute after midnight.

But already some of the $70,000 Saarlanders were jumping the gun to greet the occasion. They began their New Year's Eve celebration this morning.

The calm transfer of the 900-square-mile coal and steel area will be in sharp contrast to the stormy days of 1935 when Adolf Hitler grabbed the Saar after a plebiscite in which a 90 per cent vote was cast for reunion with Germany.

The new treaty whereby France agreed to give up the Saar was signed on Oct. 27. It removed a major source of trouble between the two neighboring nations. The 1935 plebiscite of the Saar was almost unanimously German-speaking and their ties are with Germany.

It will become the tenth state of the German federal republic and will be represented in both houses of the Bonn Parliament. It will vote in the forthcoming national elections in September.

But until Jan. 1, 1960, the territory still will use French money and will have the strange situation of French customs officers inspecting and taxing German goods moving into one of Germany's own states.

Pupil Admits $250,000 School Blaze at Freeport

FREEPORT, Ill. (AP)—A 14-year-old newsboy has confessed starting a fire which caused an estimated $250,000 damage to St. Mary's Elementary school here on Dec. 15.

Deputy State Fire Marshal Walter Parlier said today at his home at Peoria that the youth, a pupil at the school, told him he set the blaze for "spite and revenge." The building was almost destroyed.

Parlier said the boy told him he entered the school boiler room early Saturday morning while delivering papers, ignited one of his papers from a pile of embers near the boiler, and tossed it into a carton of waste paper.

The boy was brought in as a suspect, Parlier said, when a janitor remembering his entering the school under some pretext.

Church officials estimated a cost of $150,000 to replace the school, which was empty of students at the time.

Local authorities said the boy has been released into custody of his parents, pending examination of the case by the Illinois Youth Commission.

Estimate 350,000 Fans At Seven Bowl Tilts; Iowa Favored Over Oregon State

By United Press
An estimated 350,000 fans will flock to seven bowls Tuesday in college football's annual salute to the New Year.

The top crowd of about 100,000 is expected in the Rose Bowl where Iowa is an eight-point favorite to whip Oregon State. Tennessee, the nation's second-ranked team, is a 6½-point choice over Baylor in the Sugar Bowl. Colorado is a three-point pick over Clemson in the Orange Bowl and TCU a two-to-three point favorite over Syracuse in the Cotton Bowl.

The four major bowl games will be carried on national radio and television networks which should give every American with enough strength to get out of bed a chance to share in the fun.

The experts are predicting low scoring games with the exception of the Cotton Bowl, where TCU and Syracuse feature high-octane offenses.

Battle of Tackles

Iowa, which compiled an 8-1 record during the regular season, is a solid choice to beat Oregon State (7-2-1) despite the fact it won by only 14-13 last October. The Hawkeyes yielded an average of only one touchdown a game and shut out four opponents. A feature of the game is expected to be the play of rival tacklers John Witte of Oregon State and Al Karras of Iowa.

A crowd of about 81,000 at New Orleans will see Tennessee (10-0-0) and Baylor (8-2) in a rugged defensive test. The Volunteers also feature brilliant tailback Johnny Majors but Baylor's powerful line has held opponents to a mere 6.6 points a game. Bobby Jones and Doyle Traylor run the Bears' offense with Traylor of doubtful physical condition.

Orange Fans Protest
At Miami, the crowd is expected to fall 5,000 to 8,000 short of capacity.

city reflecting the fan protest of a match between rather unglamorous teams. Colorado (7-2-1) attracted national respect this year mostly as a result of a loss—7-19 to Oklahoma—while Clemson's record was 7-2 and the Tigers were soundly walloped by Miami, Fla. It could turn out to be a whole of a game if only because both teams are so eager to prove they really belong in a bowl in the first place.

Eastern prestige will be at stake at Dallas, Tex., where Syracuse (7-1) turns the brilliant Jimmy Brown loose against TCU. (7-3), a team which was strong enough to employ hard-running Jim Swink as a decoy this year. Syracuse is still smarting over that 61-6 Orange Bowl loss to Alabama in 1953 and wants to take it out on the Horned Frogs.

In three lesser bowls, George Washington (7-1-1) opposes Texas Western (9-1) in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex. West Texas (7-2) meets Mississippi Southern (7-1-1) in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., and Texas Southern (8-1) plays Prairie View A&M (4-5) in the Prairie View Bowl at Houston, Tex.

Bowl Weekend Started

The "long weekend" got underway Saturday when Georgia Tech defeated Pittsburgh 21-14, in the Gator Bowl, the North topped the South, 14-0, in the Blue-Gray game and the West upset the East, 7-6.

Georgia Tech took advantage of every break to present Coach Bobby Dodd with a sixth straight bowl victory and his second consecutive one-touchdown win over Pittsburgh. The Panthers out-rushed Georgia Tech, 246-162 and outpassed it, 67-45 yards, but the Engineers intercepted two passes and recovered two fumbles.

Johnny Brodie's 28-yard pass to Pete O'Garra plus Dean Derby's conversion provided the West with its victory. Paul Hornung passed for the East's touchdown but then missed the extra point.

Don Vicic of Ohio State ground out 112 yards rushing in leading the North to its victory in the Blue-Gray game.

From the Fairfield paper: "The Davis & Son Oilers defeated the Eldorado Merchants, at Eldorado 156-112."

The story, headed "Hey, What Kind of Record is This," states that Dean Millenbine scored 30 points for the winners.

Millenbine is the former McLeansboro high school ace who riddled defenses dreamed up by other high school coaches and made the St. Louis University freshman team last season.

The Eldorado Tennis club has joined with five other tennis clubs in applying for membership in the newly formed Southern Illinois Tennis association.

Others making application are Centralia, Olney, Flora, Southern Illinois University and Jackson County.

Tennis clubs in the E. St. Louis area are expected to withdraw from the Missouri Valley association and apply for membership in the SITA, which hopes to affiliate with the Western Lawn Tennis association.

An open meeting of the newly formed association will be held in the library of the Eldorado Township high school Saturday, Feb. 23 at 2 p. m.

Wayne Williams, the Du Quoin and SIU football player who was drafted by the professional New York Giants, released and then recalled, returned to his home in Du Quoin last week following the close of the Giants' regular season.

He wasn't eligible to play in the league championship game, featuring the Giants and Chicago Bears in Yankee stadium yesterday.

Williams plans to return to SIU to resume his studies and probably will be the Saluki's end coach in spring grid practice. Before leaving the Giants, Williams signed a 1957 contract, but military service may prevent him from joining the Giants next July when "spring training" begins.

Pettit Paces Hawks Over Lakers, 100-93

By United Press
The latest attempt to handuff Bob Pettit, the National Basketball Association scoring champion, has resulted in complete failure.

The six-foot, 10-inch former Louisiana State star whipped 41 points through the cords Sunday night to lead the St. Louis Hawks in a 100-93 victory over the Minneapolis Lakers.

In other Sunday games, the Fort Wayne Pistons moved within a half-game of first place in the Western Division by nipping Philadelphia, 104-99, while pacesetter Rochester bowed to New York, 96-88, and the Boston Celtics increased their Eastern Division lead to four games by downing Syracuse, 105-92.

Carbondale Beats Mt. Vernon for Third At West Frankfort

Host West Frankfort won the annual Egyptian Holiday basketball tournament Saturday night by trouncing Edwardsville, 62-43, in the championship game.

Carbondale surprised Mt. Vernon, 64 to 57, in the contest for third place and Murphysboro took Du Quoin, 54 to 30, to win the consolation round.

Little Wayne Neible was the big gun in the Frankfort attack as he racked up six field goals and nine free throws for 21 points. Francis Florian had 17.

Pulliam was high for Edwardsville with 14.

Prep basketball's list of losers was as impressive and full of surprises today as the rollick of winners after a rugged week end of holiday tournament competition.

Beside West Frankfort, Collinsville, Alton, Greenville, Waukegan, Newman, and Glenbard carried home the trophies in major tournaments.

Powerful Pinckneyville, which fell victim to Collinsville 56-54 on a basket in the final four seconds of the Centralia holiday tournament, headed the list of losers. Also suffering their first defeats of the season were Rock Island, Aurora East and Mount Carmel.

Defending state champion Rockford West, Paris and Quincy also took it on the chin.

Big Game at Centralia

Far and away the big game of the weekend was the Collinsville-Pinckneyville final at Centralia. Collinsville, ranked third in the state, thumped four-ranked Rock Island Alleman 95-74, with Terry Bethel scoring a tournament-record 49 points, to gain the final round.

Pinckneyville was also devastating in smashing Quincy 62-40 in the other semifinal.

In the final game, Pinckneyville took a 30-29 halftime lead, and only two or three points separated the two teams throughout the game. Then, with four seconds to go, Collinsville's Tracy Wilhoit hooped two points to clinch the championship.

Alleman beat Quincy 54-46 for third place, and Belleville belted Robinson 84-65 for the consolation championship.

Norris City Wins

Mount Carmel took its first defeat of the season after eight victories, losing to Norris City 49-47 in the final of the Bridgeport tournament.

Alton won the Pontiac tourney championship by dumping once-beaten Hillsboro 59-52. Alton beat Streator 61-47 and Hillsboro beat Cicero Morton 44-40 to gain the

New York Giants Humiliate Bears, 47 to 7

NEW YORK (U.P.) — The New York Giants, boasting their first National Football League championship since 1933, today notified their 1937 rivals that they won't stand pat with the squad that handed the proud Chicago Bears their worst playoff defeat.

The Giants humiliated the favored Bears, 47-7, Sunday before a 58,836 chilled Yankee Stadium fans and millions of warm television viewers. The Giants were sneakers on the frozen turf in throttling the team that led the league in scoring this season.

Defense won the first championship for Coach Jim Lee Howell. Key players on New York's defensive unit Sunday included end Andy Robustelli, halfback Ed Hughes, linebackers Bill Svoboda and Harland Sware and tackle Dick Modzelewski.

After fullback Mel Triplett carried Umpire Sam Wilson and two bears into the end zone for New York's first touchdown, Robustelli's jarring tackle made Bear fullback Rick Casares fumble and Andy also recovered the ball on the Chicago 15.

Ben Agajanian followed with his first field goal and the Bears never recovered.

They had to gamble after that, losing a bid for a first down on their 45 when Emilen Tunnell dropped J. C. Caroline on the Bear 43. The Giants, with Charley Conerly replacing Don Heinrich at quarterback, scored in seven plays with Alex Webster plunging the last two yards.

Casares, the league's leading rusher, got the only Chicago touchdown on a nine-yard run after tackle John Mellekas recovered Tunnell's fumble of a punt on the New York 25. But Webster's one-yard plunge climaxed a 72-yard drive and, when Ray Beck blocked Ed Brown's end zone punt, Henry Moore pounced on the ball for a touchdown and a 34-7 halftime lead.

Conerly's short scoring passes to Kyle Rote and Frank Gifford in the second half completed one of Chicago's worst defeats.

finals. Streator Friday night had handed Aurora East its first defeat of the season, 30-26 in double overtime.

Glenbard Defeats Lincoln

Glenbard racked up Lincoln 50-41 in the championship game at Kankakee. Champaign won the consolation bracket championship by jolting Maywood Proviso 52-31.

Greenville upset Paris 57-52 to win the Paris tourney title.

East St. Louis Lincoln won the East St. Louis tournament by dropping East St. Louis 56-46.

Madison beat Mattoon 54-48 for the Wood River championship. Taylorville clobbered Anna-Jonesboro 83-46 in the consolation final.

Peoria Central Wins Round-Robin

Rockford West lost to Peoria Central 62-59 in a four-team round-robin at Rockford. It was only the Warriors' second loss of the season.

Outside the tournaments, the major upset of the weekend was Chicago Heights Bloom's 74-58 triumph over previously unbeaten and fifth-ranked Rock Island.

Second-ranked Elgin notched its ninth straight win 78-61 over Thornton in a four-team tourney at Elgin.

Waukegan beat Rock Falls 56-46 for the De Kalb tourney title. Newman nipped Charleston 50-48 in double overtime for the Charleston tourney championship.

Snead Wins Boca Raton Tournament

BOCA RATON, Fla. (U.P.) — Sam Snead figured today that the first tournament held on the Boca Raton Golf Course since he became manager was a huge success. He won it.

The veteran slammer fired a four-under-par 66 in the final round of the Boca Raton Open and Pro-Am Tourney. It gave him a 200 total for 54 holes and his team of three amateurs a 116 total for 36 holes for a clean sweep of the top money.

Low Worsham was runner-up in both events posting a final 65-204 that included a hole-in-one on the 126-yard 14th hole. Worsham's pro-am team carded a 117.

Third place pro at 209 was Ansel Snowl, followed by Walker Inman at 211.

After fullback Mel Triplett carried Umpire Sam Wilson and two bears into the end zone for New York's first touchdown, Robustelli's jarring tackle made Bear fullback Rick Casares fumble and Andy also recovered the ball on the Chicago 15.
